Postgres Weekly

Postgres Weekly

Issue 179 — October 19, 2016

Postgres 9.6 Now in Beta on Heroku

Postgres 9.6 is here and it supports a number of new features, such as parallel sequential scans. It's available in private beta on Heroku today.

HEROKU #NEWS

Holy Easy PostgreSQL Deployment

Here's a handy tool that makes it easier for you to install and manage not only Postgres, but many of the surrounding tools and extensions for it.

DAVID RADER

A Look at Logical Replication with pglogical

Logical replication has long been a missing feature in Postgres itself, but is available as an extension. Here's a in-depth tour of the primary extension that makes it available today.

SHAUN M. THOMAS

When it comes to PostgreSQL development, one company stands out.

At 2ndQuadrant we're passionate about Open Source and PostgreSQL, investing significant resources into a continuous development program that every user can benefit from. Find out more about our recent contributions to PostgreSQL 9.6.

2NDQUADRANT #SPONSORED

Loading Data into Postgres-XL At Over 9M Rows/Sec

Postgres-XL is a massively parallel database built on top of PostgreSQL 9.5 aimed at BI workloads.

PAVAN DEOLASEE

PGConf Silicon Valley - A Look at the Postgres Themes

PGConf Silicon Valley is just under a month away, and it features a great line-up of talks. Here's a look at some of the key themes that are a part of this year's line-up.

CITUS DATA

BDR (Bi-Directional Replication) History and Future

BDR isn't entirely new to Postgres; it has a long history of being implemented in add-ons and extensions.

CRAIG RINGER

pgAudit: Auditing Database Operations, Part 2

A discussion of how to configure pgAudit to use an auditing role to watch only specific objects. This is helpful when managing or supporting PostgreSQL installations.

JASON O'DONNELL

pg_query_state: Live 'EXPLAIN' for Postgres Queries

POSTGRES PROFESSIONAL #CODE

Want Multiple Job Offers? - Try Hired

On Hired, engineers typically get 5+ job offers in 1 week. Find that new opportunity you've been craving and get access to 4,000+ companies instantly.

HIRED #SPONSORED

Want to subscribe? Enter your address here